Women Who Have Made a Difference...

Photographers

Friday, June 5, 11:30 am, $12

The powerful photographs of Dorothea Lange and Margaret Bourke-White can help us learn to see without a camera.

Barbara Gehringer, an award winning photographer, owns the Clarkson Street Gallery in Fremont.

Social Workers

Friday, June 19, 11:30 am, $12

My mother, a social worker, taught me that even making a difference to only one person at a time can have a real impact on society.

Janice Gilmore is a columnist for the Omaha World Herald, an educator, and popular motivational and inspirational speaker.

Women of Compassion

Friday, June 12, 11:30 am, $12

The lives of four women of compassion offer both inspiration and encouragement for our own living of compassion: Aung San Suu Kyi, who continues the struggle for democracy under a brutal regime in Burma; Sr. Dorothy Stang, killed for her work with the poor farmers in the Brazilian rainforest; Wangari Matthai, environmentalist from Kenya and the first African woman to win the Nobel Peace Prize; Caryll Houselander, WWII British artist and woodworker whose compassionate presence aided the healing of many who suffered from emotional and mental illness.

Sr. Joyce Rupp, OSM is well known for her work as a writer, spiritual "midwife," and retreat and conference speaker.

Ordinary Women

Friday, June 26, 11:30 am, $12

When we hear of famous women there is a sense that their accomplishments are beyond what most of us can imagine. Yet these extraordinary women surround us. In fact, we are these extraordinary women. And we are changing the world without even knowing it.

Sr. Barbara Kennedy, OSM is a licensed counselor and Clinical Director of Northwest Catholic Counseling Center in Portland, OR.
